Introduction

Events and conferences Management is a rapidly growing field within the services sector not only for its recreational qualities but also for its power of communication. The great strength of this business sector is that a well-organized event is capable of satisfying guests and participants on multiple levels – an event is not only a diversion for its participants but a tool capable of unifying large bodies of people around a specific happening, and at its best around a specific idea. With its multifaceted role, which includes planning, organization and execution, events and conferences management requires a thorough grasp of key procedures, such as forming an initial concept and targeting an audience through market research, as well as branding and sponsorship.

Objectives

The development Program in Events and conferences Management at PROJACS aims to equip participants with essential knowledge and skills needed to excel at each stage of the events and conferences management process. The course covers such topics as conceptualization, planning, marketing, budget forecasting, event and conference execution and post-event and conference analysis. Practical, theoretical and strategic expertise will be provided within a challenging environment for participants to succeed within this dynamic field.

After successful completion of the program, participants will be prepared for employment opportunities in areas such as: organization of fashion & celebrity events, fashion shows, film awards, road shows, corporate events & seminars, conventions, exhibitions and trade fairs, art galleries, museums, event agencies, social and charity events, NGO events, wedding celebrations, concerts & festivals, product launches, public relation agencies and the hotel & tourism industry, among many others.
