Introduction

The ability to negotiate successfully is crucial for survival in today's changing business world. Negotiation is fun if you know what you're doing. Negotiation is something that we do all the time and is not only used for business purposes, there are many reasons why you may want to negotiate and there are several ways to approach it. If your reason for negotiation is seen as 'beating' the opposition, it is known as 'Distributive negotiation'. This way, you must be prepared to use persuasive tactics and you may not end up with maximum benefit. This is because your agreement is not being directed to a certain compromise and both parties are looking for a different outcome. Should you feel your negotiation is much more 'friendly' with both parties aiming to reach agreement, it is known as 'Integrative negotiation'. This way usually brings an outcome where you will both benefit highly. The objective of this workshop is to introduce you to the different styles of negotiations, and equip you with the most effective styles to get what you want.
